9. QUESTION: (INCLUDE SCENARIO IF NEEDED FOR CLARITY):

FACTS: The claimant was awarded monthly Social Security disability benefits of $1,061. In calculating the amount of his CalFresh benefit Sacramento County used the entire $1,061 amount of the Social Security disability benefit. The claimant testified he is required by the Social Security Administration to receive his disability payments through a representative payee. The claimant testified the representative payee organization takes a monthly fee directly from his monthly disability payment, and the amount he actually receives from the payee is the disability benefit amount minus the payee fee. The claimant contends his CalFresh benefit should be calculated using the actual amount he receives (the disability benefit amount minus the payee fee) as opposed to the entire $1,061 amount awarded by the SSA.

QUESTION: In the CalFresh program, is a representative payee fee, paid by a client who is required by the Social Security Administration to receive payments through a representative payee and taken directly from the SSA payment by the representative payee, excluded as income?

10. REQUESTOR'S PROPOSED ANSWER:

Absent any specific authority on point, which I am unable to find, I believe the portion of the benefit that is kept by the payee as a fee is unavailable income, and the CalFresh benefit should be calculated by using the actual amount the claimant receives (the disability benefit amount minus the payee fee)

11. STATE POLICY RESPONSE (CFPB USE ONLY):

Per USDA provision 273.9(c)(1) the amount of the fee, which the organization (representative payee) withholds from the funds it receives on behalf of the SSI recipient, would not be counted as income to the recipient for food stamp purposes. The monthly fee collected by the organizational representative payee is legally obligated to the payee rather than to the household by virtue of the statute and thus is not countable under section 273.9(c)(1)(iv). To qualify to collect a fee as a representative payee an organization must be a community based nonprofit social service agency which is bonded or licensed in each State in which it serves as representative payee.
